SERVICES AVAILABLE THROUGH SCC

The SCC Counseling Assistance Program (CAPS) provides students with access to counseling and referrals free of charge through a partnership with masters-level counseling students from area universities. Additional information is available at each campus' Dean of Students Office (<https://www.southeast.edu/current-students/caps/caps-additional-information.php>).

The College Behavioral Profile (CBP) is a web-based brief intervention program designed to reduce high-risk drinking, marijuana use and related harms among college students. The CBP can also reinforce low-risk behaviors and reaffirm those who choose to abstain from alcohol and marijuana use. The CBP utilizes personalized normative feedback and brief motivational intervention (BMI) to offer students information about their alcohol and marijuana use including risks, expectancies, perceptions of social norms, along with options for reducing problems and consequences that may be related to their use. The CBP may be used by college personnel as a standalone program for students identified as at risk for alcohol or marijuana related dependency or in tandem with programs such as BASICS and CHOICES.
